

Abstract of the Disclosure

An airbag system includes an airbag, and a gas generator for generating gas to inflate the airbag. The airbag further includes an inner bag to be inflated first and disposed inside the airbag, and a check valve for preventing the gas from flowing from the inner bag to the airbag. In the airbag system, after the inner bag is inflated, the gas is supplied to the airbag to inflate the same.